NABARD Dear Talks

13th September 2021

Appeal for a habitable tomorrow

Shivangi Shubham*

Clouds of smoke from industries

Rivers changing from blue to black.

Easy to overlook in an air-conditioned chamber.

Let's not.

Sway in the disposable conveniences

Our poor planet drowning in plastic pollution

Animals choking to a painful death.

Let's not.

Fashion moving fast and cupboards swamped

Not using public transport as it's uncool

Wasting water when many parched.

Let's not.

Let's not confuse welfare with GDP numbers

And tide in the wave of consumerism

For it renders inequality and climate degradation

Let's choose to be better.

Our previous D-Talks

Title	Author
Will the Indian government bond yield soften further?	Neha Gupta

* With Department of Economic Analysis and Research (DEAR), NABARD, Mumbai.

Views expressed are those of authors' alone. Usual disclaimers apply.